

Journal of Human Rights and the Environment

Editors

Co-Editors in Chief: Anna Grear, Senior Lecturer in Law, Head of International Law and Human Rights Research Unit, Bristol Law School, University of the West of England, UK and Karen Morrow, Professor of Environmental Law, University of Swansea, UK

Aims and Scope

'I do not know of any journal in existence that fuses these issues. . . Literature on this issue is growing by the day and scholars frequently have to revert to less issue-specific journals to publish these findings. The journal. . . will provide an ideal opportunity to disseminate research findings.'

– Louis Kotze, North West University, South Africa

'Environmental and human rights issues are two of the most pressing concerns of the 21st century, and so, therefore, is the way in which these issues interact. This journal will be a timely and vital addition to the international legal literature.'

– Sarah Joseph, Castan Centre for Human Rights Law, Monash University, Australia

Editorial Board

The quality of the editorial board, which is made up of leading scholars with outstanding international reputations, ensures that this journal will make a unique contribution to an informed understanding of the relationship between human rights and the environment.

Upendra Baxi, University of Warwick, UK and University of Delhi, India

Klaus Bosselmann, University of Auckland, New Zealand

Sean Coyle, Professor of Jurisprudence, University of Exeter, UK

Bharat Desai, Centre for International Legal Studies School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi

Kevin Gray, Professor of Law and Dean of Trinity College, Cambridge, UK;
Professor of Law, National University of Singapore

Parvez Hassan, Hassan and Hassan, Pakistan

Patricia Kameri-Mbote, Professor of Law, Strathmore University, Nairobi, Kenya

Sarah Joseph, Monash University, Australia

Louis Kotze, Northwest University, South Africa

Bronwen Morgan, University of Bristol, UK

Bradford Morse, Professor and Dean of Law, Te Piringa Faculty of Law, University of Waikato, New Zealand and Professor of Law, University of Ottawa, Canada

Benjamin Richardson, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, Canada

Professor Philippe Sands QC, University College London and Matrix Chambers

Dinah Shelton, The George Washington University, US

Jenny Steele, Director of Research, York Law School, University of York, UK

Christopher D. Stone, J. Thomas McCarthy Trustee Professor of Law,
University of Southern California, US

Laura Westra, Ph.D., Ph.D.(Law), Professor Emerita (Philosophy)
and Sessional Instructor (Faculty of Law), University of Windsor, Canada

The relationship between human rights and the environment is a fascinating, uneasy, and increasingly urgent one. This new international journal provides a strategic academic forum in which an extended interdisciplinary and multilayered conversation can take place concerning the challenges located at the interface of these two centrally important fields.

'We have waited a long time for a journal like this. These two essential areas of concern, human rights and the environment, urgently need bringing together in this way. . . them is fully acknowledged and clarified can we address the grave issues currently facing the world – from climate change to the impacts of globalisation.'

– Laura Westra, University of Windsor, Canada

Subscriptions

Two issues a year

ISSN Print 1759-7188

ISSN Online 1759-7196

Individuals: £50/$100

(online and print)

£40/$75(online only)

Institutions: £125/$225

(online and print)

£110/$180 (online only)

ISSUE 1 Where Discourses Meet OUT NOW!

Editorial

Where Discourses Meet – Anna Gear

Articles

Do human rights help or hinder environmental protection?
Conor Gearty

Writing about impunity and environment: the 'Silver Jubilee' of the Bhopal catastrophe
Upendra Baxi

Pedestrian democracy and the geography of hope
Kevin Gray

Worth the paper that they are written on? Human rights and the environment in the law of England and Wales
Karen Morrow

Developing substantive environmental rights
Dinah Shelton

Book Reviews

Klaus Bosselmann, The Principle of Sustainability: Transforming Law and Governance (Aldershot, Hampshire: Ashgate, 2008), 242 pp. Reviewed by Willemien Du Plessis

Richard P. Hiskes, The Human Right to a Green Future: Environmental Rights and Intergenerational Justice (New York: Cambridge University Press, 2009), 171 pp Reviewed by Kathryn Kintzele

ISSUE 2: Climate Change Available September 2010

Editorial

Climate change and human rights: the defining dilemma of our times?
– Karen Morrow

Articles

Phiri, the plight of the poor and the perils of climate change: time to rethink environmental and socio-economic rights in South Africa?
Louis J. Kotzé

Climate change and the human right to water
Laura Westra

Climate change and environmental justice: reflections on litigation over oil extraction and rights violations in Nigeria
Hari M. Osofsky

Human rights in the climate change regime
Naomi Roht-Arriaza

Climate change and human rights: amicable or arrested development?
Ole W. Pedersen

Book Reviews

Stephen J. Turner, A Substantive Environmental Right: An Examination of the Legal Obligations of Decision-Makers towards the Environment (Kluwer Law International, Austin, 2009), xxiii, 284 pp Reviewed by Ceri Warnock

Laura Westra, Environmental Justice and the Rights of Unborn and Future Generations: Law, Environmental Harm and the Right to Health (Earthscan, London, 2006, paperback edition, 2008) 326 pp Reviewed by Sumudu Atapattu

Issue 3: Ontological Vulnerability, March 2011

Issue 4: Biodiversity and Food Supply, September 2011

Issue 5: Corporate Environmental and Human Rights Responsibility, March 2012

Issue 6: Rights and Property Paradigms, September 2012

Issue 7: Human Bodies in Material Space, March 2013

Forthcoming contributors include:

Paedar Kirby	Martha Fineman	Andreas Philippopoulos-mihaopolos
Klaus Bosselmann	Ravi Rajan	Janet Dine
David Kinley	Sarah Joseph	Sean Coyle

Call for papers and author guidelines

JHRE is a bi-annual journal covering the links and tensions between human rights and environmental issues, regulation and rights.

The editors seek high quality contributions of between 8,000-12,000 words from academics, practitioners and activists working either field. The journal will focus on original research, articles, commentaries and book reviews and will be aimed predominantly at academics and intellectuals working in the public sphere, engaged with the issues. The contributions will be double blind peer reviewed prior to acceptance for publication.

The editors welcome submissions for future editions:-

Issue 3, March 2011: Ontological Vulnerability, submissions by 1 September 2010

Issue 4, September 2011: Biodiversity and Food Supply, submissions by 1 March 2011

Issue 5, March 2012: Corporate Environmental and Human Rights Responsibility, submissions by 1 September 2011

Submissions and editorial queries should be sent to the editors -

Anna Gear (anna.grear@uwe.ac.uk) or Karen Morrow (k.morrow@swansea.ac.uk)

Book review submissions

Please contact Ben Richardson (brichardson@osgoode.yorku.ca)

To place a subscription (worldwide):-

The Subscriptions Dept • Marston Book Services Ltd
160 Milton Park, Abingdon • OXON OX14 4YN UK
Tel: 44 1235 465574 • Fax: 44 1235 465556
Email: subscriptions@marston.co.uk

For further information, contact:

The Sales and Marketing Department • Edward Elgar Publishing Limited
The Lypiatts • 15 Lansdown Road • Cheltenham • Glos • GL50 2JA • UK

Free sample of first issue & table of contents alert

To receive TOC alerts and a copy of the first electronic issue, email Hilary Quinn (hquinn@e-elgar.co.uk)

EDWARD ELGAR
Publishing
www.elgar.com